Patrol arrests trucker in early Friday fatalities

BY B. R. HAWKINS
Highway Patrol officers have arrested truck driver German Argueta of Houston, Texas in connection with the early morning traffic accident that killed two and injured two others Friday, July 3, said Highway Patrol spokesman, Sgt. Joe Gazzo.

Diana Bickham, 50, of Sandy Hook, Miss., and Ruby M. Thompson, 69, also of Sandy Hook were killed in an accident on I-10 three miles east of the Hancock County Welcome Center. Two others were seriously injured and transported to Northshore Medical Center in Slidell, La., Sgt. Gazzo said. Both Bickham, who drove a 1982 Toyota, and Argueta, drive of a 1995 Kenworth, were traveling west on I-10 at approximately 1 a.m. Friday.

"The 18-wheeler had a blow-out and hit the back end of the Toyota throwing the two women from the vehicle," Gazzo said. "No one in the Toyota was wearing seatbelts."

NASA politely, but firmly says no garbage route

BY ED LEPOMA

There's no way trucks carrying household garbage would be allowed to travel through NASA's Stennis Space Center in the event a developer opens a landfill in the buffer zone.

The straight-forward, but polite comment was contained in a letter sent June 22 to Supervisor Rocky Pullman, who serves as chairman of Hancock County's Regional Solid Waste Authority. The Echo obtained a copy of the letter, written to Pullman by NASA chief environmental officer, Ron Magee.

In the letter, Magee said he had reviewed the sites in the buffer zone offered by two proposed developers, and he commented on several issues that NASA would be concerned about in the event a sanitary landfill is constructed.

The team of Bennett York and daughter Paige York, doing business as Hancock Waste of Mississippi, has proposed a 700-acre tract in Hancock County off Texas Flat Road.

Man faces charges

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

A Bay St. Louis resident was arrested Friday morning as the result of a traffic violation and faces several charges, including possession of a controlled substance and crack cocaine, said Multi-Task force Director Shane Corr.

"Bay Patrolman Martin Halloway stopped Thomas William Page, 65, 731 Washington St., Bay St. Louis, for making an improper turn.

Page was also driving with a suspended license and refused a DUI test. Search of the vehicle by the officer revealed three rocks of crack cocaine," Corr said.

Bond was set at $6,600 for Page, with $5,000 of it being for the possession of a controlled substance, Corr reported.

Drug Task Force Agent Jeff Hair is in charge of the case.

Crack arrest made

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

A crack cocaine arrest was made in the Catahoula Community, following a domestic call Thursday afternoon, according to Shane Corr, Drug Multi-Task force director.

Corr said, "Hancock County deputy sheriffs responded to a domestic call in the Catahoula Community of the county. They were invited in the residence by a female, and officers observed crack cocaine on a counter."

Sterling W. Bell, Jr., 21, 9089 Acker Road, Picayune, was arrested and charged with possession with intent to distribute cocaine, Corr said.

Corr estimated the crack's value at $400, and officers also recovered $1,800 in cash, scales and drug paraphernalia. Another person was also arrested for simple possession at the residence, Corr added.

Task Force Agent Tommy Jennings is in charge of the case.

Hancock deputies responding to the domestic call were Billy Moran, Phillip Johnston and Brandon Ladner.

Movie trip takes adventurous turn

BY B. R. HAWKINS

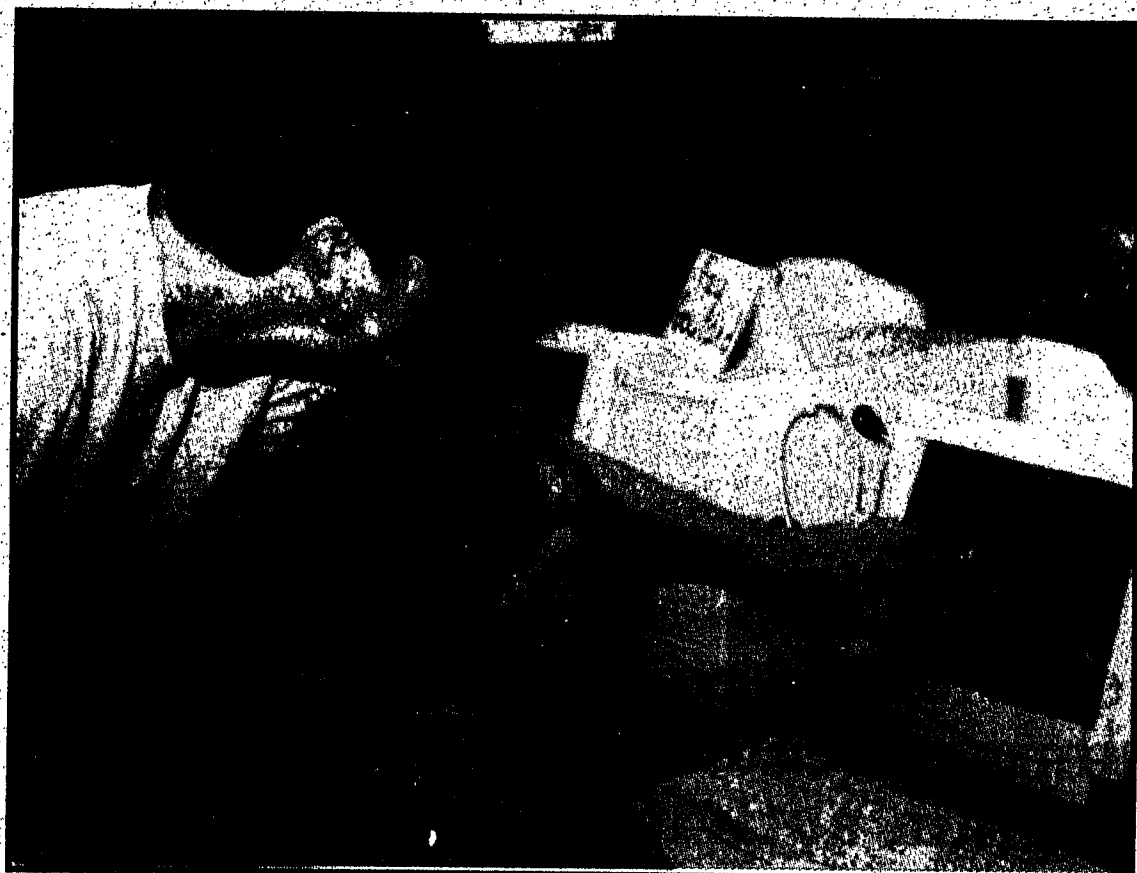

Campers from Gulfside Assembly found almost more adventure on the trip home from seeing the new Disney release Mulan, Tuesday, June 23, than in the movie itself.

Six campers and two counselors from Gulfside Methodist Assembly were returning to campus from an outing Tuesday afternoon. The 16-year-old counselor driving the camp van forgot about the detour on Beach Blvd., according to camp director, Mary Proby, and turned down Acadian Bay Lane thinking that the cul-de-sac was a through street.

"The kids were coming back up the street when James Strickland, a contractor in the subdivision stopped the van," Proby said.

Getting a helping hand

St. Clare's computer lab open for seniors

BY BETSY GAGNET

Mary Bartholomew walked around the classroom helping "students" having difficulty with their computers.

With eyes on the screen and hand on the mouse, each student maneuvered through instructions called out by Bartholomew, including how to choose fonts or color and save a document.

It could have been any day at St. Clare School in Waveland, except the median age of the students, according to Principal Harriet Bellone, is between 55 and

This summer, St. Clare opened up its computer lab to adults, and the response was wonderful, said Bellone.

"We've had to turn people away," she said. "The classes are full for the summer."

Classes are held Mondays at 6 p.m. and Wednesdays at 10 a.m. and are instructed by Bartholomew, the school's computer aid, with help from Bellone and school secretary Barbara Landry.

The group last Wednesday was obviously enjoying themselves as they struggled to manipulate the mouse and create a document complete with text and pictures.

"The mouse is the hardest part, because I'm not coordinated," said Fay Gowland.

"If you have arthritis in your hand, it doesn't help either," added Bobbie Goodell, to an eruption of laughter from nearby students.

One way students were taught to maneuver the mouse was by playing solitaire, a big hit. In fact, it became so popular that Bellone had to give the class a warning.

Tennis program keeps it simple

BY BETSY GAGNET

"Keep it simple. Keep your eye on it," coached Mike Milliken from the service line, feeding balls to sweaty but eager young tennis players on the other side of the net.

The players rotated in two lines, each taking a turn hitting forehands and backhands as "Mr. Mike" instructed them on how to swing through the ball or position their bodies.

The class is part of Pass Christian's tennis program, held at the city's tennis courts on Second Street. The city has earmarked money for improvements to the three courts, including new lighting, new fencing and resurfacing.

Begun in March, the program encompasses all levels, from beginners to tournament players, under the direction of Milliken and three other instructors.

"Our program is a player development program," said Milliken, explaining the program accommodates each player's ability and where they want to go with tennis. "If someone wants to be a recreational player or a national player, we have pathways for it."

The response has been good, and 87 juniors are currently participating in the program. The expertise level ranges from beginner to state-ranked players.

Officials honor employee

BY ED LEFOMA
Everyone knows, behind any successful man stands a strong and efficient woman.
In the case of Pass Christian Mayor Billy McDonald, that woman is Valerie Isabelle, his administrative assistant.
Isabelle was honored June 24 when she was named Pass Christian's Outstanding City Employee of the Year. The Pass Rotary Club presented her a plaque during a luncheon at the Pass Christian Yacht Club.

Isabelle was born and raised on Sycamore Street in Bay St. Louis, but now makes her home in the Pass with her husband of 29 years, Donald Isabelle Sr., a career postal employee.
After graduating from Bay High in May, she married her high school sweetheart the following November. She began her clerical and secretarial career shortly afterwards when her husband joined the Air Force and was sent to Korea. When his hitch was over, Isabelle joined her husband in Detroit, where he began his postal career.

"We stayed two and a half years, and I couldn't wait to get back home," she said. "This little country girl didn't like the big city."

Isabelle first went to work in a clerical capacity for city hall in Bay St. Louis during the administration of Warren Carver.

She then went to St. Augustine Seminary, serving first as vocational secretary, then secretary to the Provincial. She stayed at St. Augustine for 16 and a half years.

In July of 1993, Isabelle became administrative assistant to Pass Mayor Ted Lawyer, and when McDonald won a special election to fill out Lawyer's unexpired term, he kept her in the position.

"She is challenged every day in her role as the mayor's chief assistant, and Isabelle says that's what she likes about the job."

"You meet people from all walks of life. I enjoy helping them, if I can," said Isabelle.

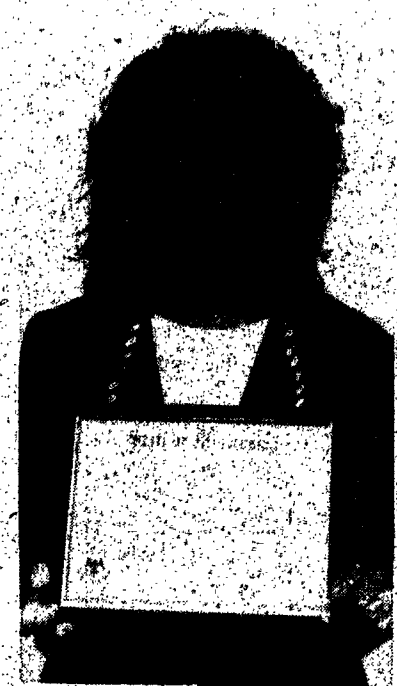

The mayor often compliments Isabelle on her performance and her way of handling people's problems. "I couldn't run the office without her," he has told the media several times. Isabelle is likewise complimentary of the mayor and their close working relationship. "He's a very good boss—very easy to work for," she said.

When she's not working, Isabelle's keeping track of and caring for her husband and 17-year-old son, Craig. She had a treat last week when oldest son, Army Sgt. Donald Jr., came to visit from his post at Fort Rucker, Alabama and brought with him her granddaughter, six-year-old Dyana.

"She's a ball of energy—a real chatterbox," said Isabelle.

Isabelle's also remains close to the family she has left in Bay St. Louis, including her father Clarence Garrett, who still lives on Sycamore Street; sister Marguerite Trahan, and brother, Leo Paul Garrett Sr.

Tammy Garber

Garber receives recognition from state

State Auditor Phil Bryant presented Tammy Garber, property manager at the Hancock County School District, a Certificate Recognizing Achievement in Fixed Asset Management.

State law requires that once each year the Auditor's Office send a representative to audit the fixed assets for each district. No errors or problems were discovered in this audit.

"I don't get to deliver good news very often," Bryant said with a smile. "People don't usually like to see the auditors coming. The people at Hancock County School District have been very good stewards of their property. The taxpayers should know that their dollars have been well maintained. We are proud to present this award to Ms. Garber."

Camp has spots to fill for summer

Additional spots are still available for Mud Daubers Camp, sponsored by the George E. Ohr Arts and Cultural Center.

Remaining are the weeks of July 13 and July 20.

Camp includes intensive workshops in pottery, sculpture, painting, drawing, pastel and alternate art forms.

The workshops are taught by local professional artists, and students work in small, carefully supervised groups.

Fees are $140 for center members; $150 for non-members.

Funding for greater accessibility to this art camp has been made possible by the Roy Anderson Corporation and the Isle of Capri.

For information, call 384-5547.

Landry is Loyola graduate

David A. Landry of Bay St. Louis received a master in religious education degree May 17 from Loyola University in New Orleans.

Award-winning designer to show new collection

Award-winning designer Tracy Thomson will be present with a new collection of summer straw hats at Quarter Moon Gallery Saturday, July 11.

"Chapeau Show" will have its opening reception in conjunction with the Bay St. Louis 2nd Saturday Artwalk, giving the area's avid collectors of Thomson's work a chance to meet the artist and enjoy trying on a variety of her newest designs.

Based in New Orleans, Thomson has established a national reputation as a milliner and costume designer. Two of her costumes appeared in a National Geographic article on Mardi Gras in New Orleans, and this year she was featured in costume on the cover of Gambit magazine.

In 1996 she took home a first place Alpha award (the fashion industry's equivalent to an Oscar) for one of her hat designs.

Tracy Thompson has been a costumer since age 8 when she staged a season of original theatrical extravaganzas in her family's Staten Island garage. After receiving her BFA from Cornell, she spent a brief moment employed at a prominent NYC law firm before "I woke up, smelled the coffee and dived headfirst into piles of fabric and dusty costume trunks."

Thomson arrived in New Orleans in January 1988 with a NYC-based performance art troupe. The next day was Mardi Gras, so — without realizing it would become a tradition — she sewed all night and hit the streets for the holiday.

At the moment she knew New Orleans would be home base and for the past 10 years, Thomson has costumed for New Orleans theatre, dance and opera, street performers and belles of the balls.

Thomson's hat designs evolved from her carnival costume hats and headresses. For her straw collection, she hand-dyes the woven paper straw, then using antique hat molds, a special sewing machine and a vivid imagination, she fashions each hat individually in her French Quarter studio.

"A great feature of these hats is that they're easily adjustable so they fit almost everyone perfectly. They're fabulous sun hats because they're cool, easy to wear and best of all, they're fun!"

Ellis Anderson, owner of Quarter Moon, says that people can't get enough of Thomson's hats. "I have a list of people I have to call every time I get new ones in. One woman the other day couldn't decide which she liked best and ended up taking home three!"

Thomson will be at Quarter Moon from 5-8 p.m. July 11 to discuss her unique hat making techniques and help people find their own perfect hat.

Refreshments will be served. For information, call Ellis Anderson at 467-7279.

"CUEVAS' QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Fishermen, please note:
The scales will close this afternoon at 4 p.m. for the Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo in Gulfport at Rice Pavilion.

I understand that incorrect information was published in the rodeo's brochures, and this was not noticed until Thursday night.

We have been told the weighmaster will not accept any entries after 4 p.m. today.

By the way, today would be a good time to visit the Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo, because they will have many fish on display in addition to much live entertainment, etc.

At 6 p.m. the daily prizes will be awarded, and entertainment at 8 p.m. will be the very popular Garland Moran & the Night Travelers band.

The big boat drawing will be a 10 p.m. tonight with the fishing rodeo ending at midnight.

Do not forget today is also the last day for the Our Lady of the Gulf Crab Festival and also St. Rose de Lima's Annual Family Church Fair.

The Our Lady of the Gulf Crab Fest, 228 S. Beach Boulevard, on the church grounds, will open at 10 a.m. Entertainment includes a Cajun Fiddler Band, a $15,000 drawdown at 5 p.m., a kiddie land, all types of booths with things for all ages.

There will be all types of seafood specialties, regulars such as hot dogs, hamburgers, and an item from the "Sweetest Man in Town," Gene Monti's cotton candy.

St. Rose's Family Fair, 301 Necaise, Bay St. Louis, will have parishioners serving food beginning at 11 a.m. until 7 p.m. and will offer such favorites as gumbo, shrimp creole, fried seafood dinners, etc. Food booths on the fairgrounds will serve from 6 p.m. until midnight. Entertainment will be staged beginning at 8 p.m.

After church today, you may want to stop by the fest, or fair and pick up your lunch to help keep mama out of the kitchen.

Just a reminder, The Echo's office will be closed Monday, as July 4th is one of our company holidays.

Some businesses were closed on Friday, while others, like us, will be closed on Monday to enable our employees to have a long weekend.

We do not get very many opportunities to have a long weekend.

On Friday morning I took a drive down Beach Boulevard to the mouth of the Jourdan River and noted several folks getting exercise by walking or jogging.

It is good that even with holidays, folks continue to look after their health doing exercise. The Hancock Walking Track appeared to be rather busy Friday, too.

By the way, it appears the Walking Track is becoming more and more popular. I always see several folks using it, even at mid-afternoon during the extreme heat of the day.

It appears that all reports on health say that exercise is most important for folks of all ages.

POLITICAL ADVICE FROM HIS NEW FRIENDS

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Writer criticizes Echo's ladies basketball coverage

Dear Editor:

An open letter to the Bay High Lady Tigers and Coach Debbie Triplett:

I am so very proud of your accomplishments this season in basketball. Many records were broken and you achieved the well-earned privilege of playing in the finals for State Champs! 1997-98, District Champs — South State Champs and runner-up for State Champs.

To my knowledge, this has never been achieved before in the history of the Lady Tigers. Congratulations to each of you and your wonderful coach.

A front page story was published in the Sea Coast Echo on the great accomplishments of the 1998 Lady Tigers team; a small write-up was on the sports page of you, the present winners, in the same issue.

How nice and fair it would have been if the story had been "Lady Tiger Accomplishments, Then and Now," and a picture of the present team on the front page also.

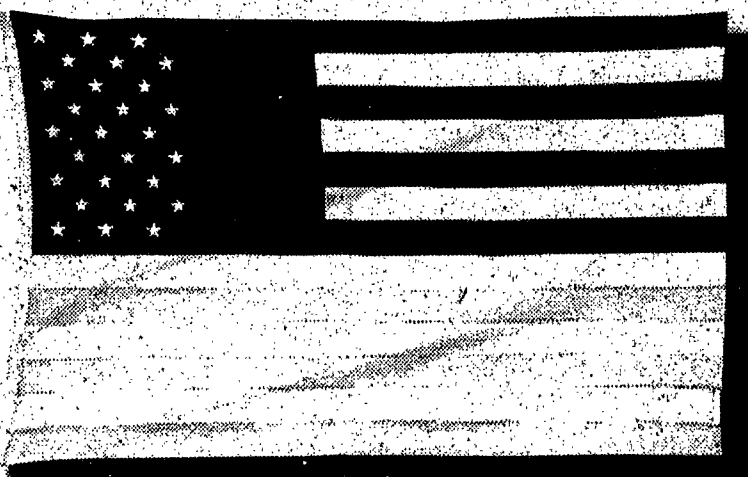

It would have been so pleasing to the present team, their coach and their families.

Since I am not a newspaper owner, an editor or a reporter, this letter will have to suffice. In closing, I wish each of you a wonderful, productive life, and please know that the people of Bay St. Louis are so very proud of you! Good luck and God bless each of you.

1998 — Thanks for a great season.

Federal Voting Assistance Program (FVAP)

State's process to clean up voter rolls will fight fraud

Secretary of State Eric Clark announces that work is on schedule for implementing Mississippi's first statewide list of registered voters.

By this past week the Secretary of State's Office had received the voter rolls of all 82 counties in electronic format. As part of the process, some counties have computerized their rolls for the first time.

County officials will continue to transmit the rolls to the Secretary of State's Office, where a comprehensive registry of voters from the state's 82 counties will be monitored.

Clark's office will alert local officials to duplicate registrations, and deceased voters. Purging will be handled by county officials as required by state law.

"Honest elections begin with clean voter rolls," Clark said. "Today, 43 Mississippi counties have more registered voters than they have people of voting age. Now, for the first time, Mis-issippi will have an efficient way to keep voter rolls up to date. We'll be able to tell if a person is registered in more than one county, if names of the deceased are still on the rolls, and if addresses are accurate," Clark said. "It's steady, labor-intensive work, but it's the best step we can take to combat voter fraud in Mississippi."

The statewide voter registration system was established at Clark's urging by the 1997 Legislature (House Bill No. 1470).

"When I took office, I began hearing reports of Mississippians registered in five counties," Clark said. "I realized Mississippi needed an efficient system for purging voter rolls. We've worked hard to put this together, and we've gotten strong support from county officials."

For information on statewide voter registration, contact David Blount, communications director at the Secretary of State's Office at 359-6342.

FROM THE SENATE

By Senator Trent Lott

Securing higher education opportunity

When our country was founded, it became an unprecedented experiment in not only personal, economic and religious freedom, but also the availability of education.

The shackles of royal decrees, aristocracy, dictatorial rule and mass illiteracy that were predominant among nations until then were cast aside, replaced by representative government, consensus-based laws and a system in which most people were not locked into any economic class, thanks to an open educational system.

That last concept has been very significant in our 200-year national success story. Even if Americans are born less fortunate than others, they do not have to remain that way because of state and local systems which provide comprehensive elementary, secondary and higher education.

For years the last tier of this system, higher education, was the only level which proved to be unattainable for some, not because of intellect but simply for lack of the finances required to go to college.

Through college loans, grants and work-study programs, we have virtually eliminated this problem. Federal loans now make up about 57 percent of aid to postsecondary students, with federal grants and work-study making up about 17 percent.

The remaining 26 percent is from state, institutional and other grants. Given such a strong federal role, we must continue to provide this opportunity despite the ever-changing political climate in Washington.

Soon the Senate will take up the Higher Education Act Reauthorization of 1998. This measure will take the vast array of financial aid that has been available to the last generation of college students and secure it for the next. At the same time, this act will improve this system in a number of ways.

For example, this reauthorization will eliminate over 50 unnecessary programs, support families by increasing availability of grants and loans for college, and provide regulatory relief to all participants in the student aid programs.

Specifically this act will improve teacher quality by establishing a comprehensive program which promotes statewide reforms to enhance the performance of teachers in the classroom, and to attract qualified individuals into teaching through alternative certification.

As in any occupation, teachers at all levels should be subject to standards of performance, especially since they in turn are the ones grading the performance of our children and young adults.

Schools should also be free to access experts outside the educational hierarchy for teaching in specific fields without being hampered by burdensome certification requirements which do not relate to the actual teaching task.

Administrators of financial aid will also be held more accountable by this reauthorization. It will require the U.S. Department of Education to establish a performance-based organization for the management and delivery of student financial aid. Taxpayers, students and their families are entitled to better and more efficient service, and the system should be less susceptible to waste or abuse.

Costs of delivering guaranteed student loans will also be addressed, as will the stability of student loan programs well into the next century.

Increasing the availability of higher education can only help our country's future. We must remember that this financial aid is for America's brightest minds, not just doled out indiscriminately.

These young men and women have already earned a place in college through years of hard work; they simply need a financial vehicle to get them there. For the most part they are repaying the debt they owe by providing our country with a more qualified work force, and by actually giving the money back.

In the 1975-76 academic year, only 20 percent of federal aid was comprised of loans while about 80 percent was grants.

Today repayable loans amount for the vast majority of these funds. I believe this indicates federal college aid is readily available and working for the intelligent, industrious Americans who are continuing our national success story.

Area youth awarded Orphan Foundation Scholarship

Scholarship recipient

Governor Kirk Fordice, right, and Donald R. Taylor, executive director for the Mississippi Department of Human Services acknowledge the accomplishments of Hancock County youth, Tasha Payton.

Governor Kirk Fordice and Donald R. Taylor, executive director for the Mississippi Department of Human Services (MDHS), acknowledge the accomplishments of one of MDHS' foster youth.

Tasha Payton, a foster youth from Hancock County, was recently named as one of 12 national $4,000 scholarship recipients from the Orphan Foundation of America.

Winners were chosen based on need and submitted essays written by the foster youth and his or her social worker.

In her application essay Tasha wrote: "There are three types of people in this world: 1) those who make things happen; 2) those who watch things happen; and 3) those who are always wondering what in the world just happened. I want to be on the scene making things happen."

New poll shows 2 of 3 adults are library users

Despite super bookstores, video stores, health clubs and home computers vying for attention, Americans continue to use their public libraries in record numbers, according to a new poll conducted by the Gallup Organization for the American Library Association (ALA).

The poll, released June 29, found 66 percent of Americans used a public library at least once in the last year in person, by telephone or online. Sixty-five percent consulted a librarian.

The vast majority of users — 64 percent — still visit the library in person. That's 13 percent more than 1978. What did they do at the library? The poll found that most — 81 percent — checked out a book. Fifty-one percent used reference materials; 50 percent read newspapers and magazines; 32 percent borrowed records, CDs or videos. Seventeen percent connected to the Internet — a new service offered at a growing number of libraries.

Nineteen percent called the library for information and nine percent connected to the library online from their homes or offices. A large majority — 90 percent — said they believe libraries will continue to be a necessary service despite the growing availability of computers. Two out of five (40 percent) said they consider the library one of the most important tax supported services.

"Libraries are better than ever today," said Prima Plauché, Hancock County Library System director. "We offer more hours, more books, more resources, story hours for children and variety of cultural and educational programs for adults."

Slightly more women (53 percent) than men report using the library. The survey found the heaviest library use is by those ages 35-54 (43 percent). Thirty-five percent of library users are 18-34, and 22 percent are over age 55. Of those who use libraries, 35 percent are college graduates, 34 percent had some college, and 31 percent had high school diplomas or less.

CORRECTION

The Diamondhead Supermarket ad on page 8 of the July 1, 1998 edition of The Sea Coast Echo Extra contained an error on the price and quantity of Miller Beer.

The correct price is $7.19 for a 12 pack of 12 oz. cans.

The Sea Coast Echo apologizes for any inconvenience this may have caused the valued customers of Diamondhead Supermarket.

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

"One nation, under God," is always a term of endearment as our country approaches the weekend of its birth. What that compact phrase means has almost as many interpretations and expressions as we have citizens.

Surveys fly back and forth, indicating that three quarters of us Americans believe in God and that about six in 10 of us are involved in an organized religious group. But surveys do not show what is trappings and what is real in religion.

Maybe the latter question is not even answerable, since it requires us to know sufficiently our innermost motivations and intentions about belief in God and obedience to whatever God commands of us, as dependent creatures.

Well, do all of us know how difficult it is to be completely honest about self-knowledge, about our most private thoughts and so-called unselfish motivations and intentions. Without descending into detail, the World Book encyclopedia says simply that religion now has relatively less influence in the everyday lives of most Americans, though churches continue to play important roles in American life.

Obviously, there is an abundance of religious activities going on, but not a lot of real religion to back them up. Unwittingly, the Pharisees gave us a wonderful, though repugnant, lesson in separating religious activities and religion.

They elevated triviality to the highest rung of an art form, expanding a handful of laws into more than 500, and giving undue prominence to numerous things from the ritual washing of hands to taboo food items and Sabbath activities.

They thought they had it going on, but Jesus expressed his extreme displeasure at the way they went about religion. He labeled both the scribes and Pharisees religious phonies:

"When you give alms, do not blow a trumpet before you, as the hypocrites do in synagogues and in the streets to win the praise of others.... (and) who love to stand and pray in the synagogues or on street corners" (Mt. 6:2, 5).

Trafficking in religious things

Using this yardstick of Jesus, the religious mettle of our country is, at best, a very mixed bag, sporting an uncomfortable number of religious fanatics on the one hand, and all too many apathetic believers on the other.

Thank God for the many in between who not only praise and thank God in public worship, but who use the impetus of their faith to pursue the spiritual, mental and physical well-being and needs of all the sisters and brothers in their reach.

Despite its many faults and even serious defects, the United States of America has been long known for its humanitarian outreach to friend and foe alike.

At times, we have been too quick in our involvement in the political, even military, affairs of other nations, but, by and large, we have been first or among the first on the scene in the event of floods, earthquakes and other disasters.

There remains only the original question about the critical difference between religious activities and true religion, for which we must question our most private selves.

One gross religious contradiction of almost half our population is the willingness, even eagerness to help the needy of other nations, while pursuing or tolerating the ungodly practice of savaging the most needy and helpless: the unborn.

6A-THE SEA COAST ECHO—SUNDAY, JULY 5, 1998

Local fighters featured at Magic's televised bouts

Banner Promotions and Casino Magic, in conjunction with fight coordinator Les Bonano, present USA's Tuesday Night Fight July 14.

Casino Magic Bay St. Louis, which hosted the first USA Gulf Coast Tuesday Night Fight January 1993, is also the host location for the last scheduled USA Tuesday Night Coast fight. This fight will mark the casino's 35th televised fight and the 26th fight broadcast on the USA network.

Chris Byrd, a rising star in the heavyweight division and an Olympic silver medalist, makes his first appearance at Casino Magic and in the South to take on local heavyweight Quinn "Cujo" Navarre in the 10-round main event.

Byrd, now 26-0, and currently rated #4 by the WBO and #9 by the IBF, is silencing many of his critics who said he was too small to get in the ring with the big heavyweights. His last bout, against formerly unbeaten Eliecer Castillo on HBO's After Dark series, resulted in a top-sided victory. Byrd currently holds the title among boxing pundits as the "quickest heavyweight" in the division.

His opponent, Quinn "Cujo" Navarre, recently lost a very close decision to Larry Holmes and then lost a battle with James "Buster" Douglas. Since then, Navarre has taken time off to regain focus and undertake a strict training routine to score three wins since July.

He most recently knocked out former USBA Champion Booker T. Word of Detroit with an impressive display of boxing.

Navarre, who is a former football star at Southern University in Baton Rouge and a native of Slidell, should draw a large local following, however, Byrd will not be an easy win for him.

In the co-feature, Purcell Miller takes on Carl Daniels for the USBA Jr. Middleweight Championship. Miller, 19-1 with 17 KOs, moves up in weight after an unsuccessful challenge for the USBA's welterweight crown. Daniels, 39-3, is back on the winning track after recently losing a 12-round decision for the WBA World Title.

General Manager Joe Billhimer said, "Casino Magic played an active role in ensuring that Banner Promotions would feature local fighters in this USA fight."

Fighters include Will McIntyre of Covington at 168 lbs. (14-1-0 7 ko's) who will battle it out six to eight rounds. Also featured is Tony Gennarelli of Biloxi at 122 lbs. (18-2-0) going six rounds, and newcomer Clay Wilson of Gulfport 1-0-0 (1 ko) going six rounds.

In addition, the card features a ladies bout with Mary Haik of Slidell at 135 lbs. (2-2-0 1 ko) going four rounds. Her opponent at this time is undetermined.

Aaron Norwood of Meridian, at 168 lbs. will also be featured on the card in a four- or six-round bout.

Doors open at 6 p.m. with the first bout at 7 p.m. The main event is at 8 p.m. in the Magic Entertainment Center. Ticket prices are $50 ringside, $30, $20 and $10. Tickets are available at all TicketMaster outlets and the Casino Magic Gift Shop. The card will also feature other preliminary bouts. Lineup is subject to change.

Area resident joins AQHA riding program

Marcus D. Cuevas of Pass Christian recently enrolled in the American Quarter Horse Association Horseback Riding Program. The program provides AQHA members recognition for time spent riding or driving American Quarter Horses.

A unique aspect of the program is its simplicity. Current AQHA members complete a program application and pay a one-time $25 enrollment fee.

Each enrollee receives an official AQHA log sheet to record hours driving or riding an American Quarter Horse. Participants need not own their own horse, but all official hours must be accrued with a registered American Quarter Horse. The first award, a program recognition patch, is given after only 50 hours have been logged and verified. Patches and nine subsequent awards are presented at 100 to 5,000 hour levels and range from merchandise gift certificates from Drysdale Western Store to a Montana Silversmith trophy belt buckle at the highest level.

Jim Bret Campbell, AQHA manager of the Horseback Riding program, said, "The Horseback Riding Program is a unique opportunity to earn rewards outside of traditional competition. In some cases the program rewards people who already spend many hours riding American Quarter Horses. For others, the Horseback Riding Program is an incentive to get out and ride."

Horseback riding provides good exercise. According to the U.S. Department of the Interior, more than 27 million people participate in horseback riding nationally.

AQHA actively encourages horseback riding as a relaxing recreational activity that can be enjoyed alone or shared with family and friends.

For information, contact Marcus D. Cuevas, 29215 Paye Road, Pass Christian, MS 39571.

THE WILD TURKEY

By James L. Cummins Jr.

In 1928, Aldo Leopold, regarded as the father of game management in the United States, stated that, "Wild turkey (in Mississippi) were steadily decreasing. They have been cleared out of the open ranges, and there is barely a seed stock left in the larger swamps."

Unfortunately, very little thought was given to turkey management until after World War I.

Because of concern by landowners and the Mississippi Game and Fish Commission in the 1950's, an intensive live trapping and transplanting program began in Mississippi. At first, pen-raised birds were stocked, but resulted in failure. Since then over 2,000 wild trapped turkeys have been successfully stocked in all counties of Mississippi.

To understand the wild turkey, one must first understand its biology. In late January and early February, wild turkey flocks begin to break up, and gobblers start searching for hens. Gobblers are very protective of their hens and fights between males occur.

Once the hens are mated, they begin laying eggs (mid-April). One mating can result in the fertilization of an entire clutch of eggs. Approximately one egg is laid each day until a clutch size of 8 to 15 eggs is attained; incubation time is 28 days.

However, research has shown that over 50 percent of all nests are abandoned or destroyed before incubation is complete.

The wild turkey gobbler has a chestnut brown-chipped set of tail feathers. Most of the birds have large bodies and measure up to 50 inches in length with a wing span of approximately 55 inches. Gobblers are noted for their bristle-like beards that extend from the breast and continue to grow throughout the turkey's life. Beards can reach up to 12 inches in length.

Another characteristic of the gobbler is spurs on the inside of the legs near the feet. Spurs can reach a length of up to 3/4 inch. Gobblers are also known for their gobbling which occurs in the spring during mating.

Habitat for wild turkeys varies tremendously, but they do best in hardwoods with fairly open undergrowth, small clearings, a water supply and little or no disturbances. One of the requirements of forested tracts of land is that they must consist of at least 1,500 acres. Once a landowner who has an area of this size, he or she can have wild turkeys.

Turkey flocks must be given adequate protection from illegal and unethical hunting practices. Young poult are very vulnerable to poaching in the summer and fall months. Once the turkey population has been established, protection in the nesting season from free ranging dogs is a must. If the necessary precautions are not taken, increases in turkey numbers will be prevented.

Another important ingredient in the recipe for a good turkey population is food. Clover, winter wheat, and bahiagrass can be grown in areas such as field borders, right-of-way and roadsides. If carefully planned, borders around food plot openings can be used for nesting.

Cummins is executive director of the Mississippi Fish and Wildlife Foundation in Stoneville. Known as "Wildlife Mississippi," the foundation is a non-profit, conservation organization founded to conserve, restore and enhance fish, wildlife and plant resources throughout Mississippi.

Saintsations to lead BSL camp

The Bay St. Louis Youth Cheerleaders will hold an all-day cheerleading camp Saturday, July 11.

The camp will be open to girls ages 6-12. Participants will be taught cheerleading fundamentals, cheers, chants and dances by the New Orleans Saintsations.

Cost will be $20 per child. Drinks will be provided, but each girl will need to bring her own sack lunch.

Wolves re-sign Shawn Frappier

The Mississippi Sea Wolves professional hockey team is proud to announce the re-signing of right Defenseman Shawn Frappier.

Frappier, coming off his second year pro is now being looked at as an integral part of the Sea Wolves defense. He played 59 of 70 games for the Sea Wolves and posted four goals, 19 assists for 23 points and had 70 penalty minutes.

Head Coach Bruce Boudreau commented, "It's crucial that you build a strong defense. With Shawn Frappier coming back, along with Patrick Rochon, we are definitely headed in that direction.

"Shawn is one of the most focused and intense players I've seen, totally committed to winning at all cost. Those are the ingredients we want in a defenseman and those are the qualities we want to instill in his organization."

The Sea Wolves open the 1998-99 campaign with six straight games at home, starting with Mobile Oct. 15 at 7:35 p.m. at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum.

Sea Wolves hire media director

The Mississippi Sea Wolves professional hockey team announces that Cindy Ward has been named director of public and media relations. Ward will oversee all public, media and community relations and will be responsible for the design and creation of all printed publications.

She comes to the Sea Wolves with an extensive background in public and media relations. She most recently worked as the OccuMed Provider Services Sales manager at Gulf Coast Medical Center.

Prior to that, she served as the director of the Biloxi Chamber of Commerce until she was promoted to vice president of marketing and membership for the Mississippi Gulf Coast Chamber of Commerce.

She has also worked locally as the marketing manager for Wink, Incorporated and as the public relations officer for the City of Biloxi.

Ward attended Auburn University for four years where she majored in political science. She is also a graduate of Biloxi High School.

Ward attends First Baptist Church in Biloxi where she has served as "chairman" of the Public Relations Committee, working with the media and on promotion of church events and activities. She is a member of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Chamber of Commerce and Edgewater Rotary.

Investors are returning to load funds

Most people wouldn't tackle a car repair or home improvement project themselves. They know it's worth the money to leave those jobs to the professionals.

Now, more people are realizing the value of professional investing help, too.

A recent article in The Wall Street Journal revealed that a number of traditionally "no-load" mutual fund groups are adding load funds, or converting their no-load funds into load funds. Load funds are offered through financial professionals, who charge a commission or fee for their services. Investors can buy no-load funds, however, directly from the fund companies and avoid paying an up-front fee.

Why the return to load funds? One reason may be that investors have larger sums to invest. According to the article, this money is coming from inheritances, the long bull market and distributions from 401(k) retirement plans. In addition, many of today's investors are older and have more complex financial problems. With more money and more complicated finances, investors are hesitant to make investment decisions completely on their own and are more willing to enlist professional help.

Such help not only puts investors at ease, it may even result in better returns, according to one study. Dalbar Financial Services conducted a comparison of load and no-load mutual funds and found that investors who bought funds through financial professionals often achieved better returns than do-it-yourselfers.

During the period studied (the beginning of 1984 through Sept. 30, 1993), Dalbar found that the average sales force-distributed mutual fund achieved an annual growth rate of 6.82 percent, compared to 5.61 percent for funds marketed directly to the public. This equates to total returns over the period of 90.21 percent for the load funds vs. 70.23 percent for the no-load funds.

Part of the reason for this difference appears to be that investors who use professional help are less likely to trade in and out of funds. The more an investor buys and sells, the lower the potential return.

Apparently, more people are discovering what successful investors have known all along. An investment professional not only can help you buy the right investment for your needs, he or she also can help you stick to your long-term objectives, hold on through short-term volatility and even achieve better returns.

Treutel elected president of state insurance group

David A. Treutel, Jr. of Bay St. Louis was elected president of the Independent Insurance Agents of Mississippi (IIAM) at their 100th annual convention held in Sandestin, Fla.

More than 800 were in attendance as the largest association of independent insurance agents in Mississippi marked its centennial with a program that included fireworks, industry information and speakers, such as national association IIAA President Bud Wilson, St. Paul Insurance Cos. CEO Pat Thiele, and Mississippi Insurance Commissioner George Dale.

Treutel has served on the association's board of directors and Executive Committee for the past six years, including two terms each as legislative chair and communications chair. He has also served on Finance, Youth Agents, Small and Rural Agents and Nominating committees.

He is past president of the Independent Insurance Agents of the Gulf Coast and represented Mississippi at the 1994 National Young Agents Conference in Orlando.

In 1997, he was presented with the association's Achievement Award for work done as legislative chair and for helping to establish the IIAM's Annual State Insurance Legislative Day in Jackson.

Treutel is one of the youngest agents to be elected IIAM president and the first from the Coast in over 15 years.

He is president of Treutel Insurance Agency and T & T Financial Services in Bay St. Louis. He started his insurance career in 1983 with the agency he now heads. He is a lifelong resident of Bay St. Louis where he attended high school at St. Stanislaus. Upon graduation, he attended the University of Mississippi graduating magna cum laude with a bachelor of business administration in accounting.

Post graduate work included completion of the CIGNA Insurance Agents school in Philadelphia, Pa., and a number of tax and accounting specialty courses in St. Charles, Ill. He served an internship in Washington, D.C. with then Congressman Trent Lott before working three years as an accountant for Arthur Anderson & Co. in New Orleans.

Treutel has served as president of the United Way of South Mississippi, the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club of Bay St. Louis, Our Lady of the Gulf Parish Council, and Partners for Stennis.

David A. Treutel, Jr.

He has been recognized as a Who's Who in Coast Business, Top 40 under 40 in Mississippi, and received a Distinguished Service Award and a Paul Harris Fellow from the Rotary Clubs of Diamondhead and Bay St. Louis, respectively.

He is a 1997 graduate of Leadership Hancock County. He currently serves on the boards of the Gulf Coast community Foundation, Father Flanagan's Boys Town of New Orleans, United Way of South Mississippi, Leadership Hancock County Steering Committee, Hancock Chamber Economic Development Committee, St. Stanislaus Board (Camp), Mississippi Windstorm Underwriting Association, Ole Miss Insurance Advisory Board, and Whitney National Bank.

Treutel and his wife, the former Angelyn Marie Scardino, have two sons, David III (Trey) and Alex.

Plastic ammunition project approved

BAY ST. LOUIS, Miss. (AP) — Amtech Inc. at Stennis Space Center has received a $10 million loan guarantee that may create up to 200 jobs, state leaders said Tuesday.

U.S. Sens. Trent Lott and Thad Cochran, both R-Miss., said Amtech will receive money to purchase equipment to make plastic-cased ammunition.

The loan, through the USDA Rural Development office, is the first of its kind for a manufacturer of plastic-cased ammunition, Lott said.

Lott said at least 50 jobs will be created.

"We had to put them on restriction," she laughed. "They always want to play solitaire."

From around the room came outbursts such as, "Where is my mouse? I can't find it," and "Oh no, where did (the document) go?" followed by laughter.

As one student left early, a classmate inquired if she had a note from her mother.

"No, but I have one from my husband, and that's better yet," was the reply.

Bartholomew said the adult students listen well to instructions, as opposed to her younger students who tend to rush in prematurely to do tasks. However, the adult students' conduct grades may not be as good as they could be.

"I find they talk a lot," she laughed. "They're having fun."

Despite the joking, Bartholomew said everyone is learning more with each class. More importantly, she said, they are gaining confidence on the computer.

Gowland said she hopes to get a computer at home soon to practice between classes. She eventually wants to use it to e-mail her daughter.

"This is fantastic for us old folks," she said. "It keeps the brain going."

"Old" is probably not a word

most people would associate with Gowland, or most of her classmates. After all, the computer class is only the first item on the day's agenda for many of them, said Jerry Melancon.

"Now a group of us will go to the senior lunch at the casino," he said. "That's the routine. We come to computer class and then go to the casino."

Trip — Campers upset

"The van was speeding, and when I stepped out into the road to stop them," Strickland said, "the driver swerved like he was going to hit me. It made me mad. They shouldn't have been down there driving so fast."

Proby said the counselors and kids were frightened and that the driver drove away rather than remaining to listen to Strickland. Proby said Strickland and a helper pursued the van out of the subdivision in a truck until stopping the campers again at the Magic Mart Superette at the intersection of Central and Sears streets.

Reports vary on the exchange of words between the occupants of the van and Strickland. Strickland maintains that one of the campers threatened to shoot him, and he called the police.

Officer Mike Hearty responded to the camp. Proby said the officer, who has been to the campus a number of times as a goodwill ambassador representing the City of Waveland, ordered the campers, as well as one teenager who had been riding with Proby, to line up by his patrol car.

Proby said the whole thing was extremely upsetting to the campers, the parents and to Gulfside. She said she met with Waveland Police Chief James Varnell the next day, and that after her meeting with the chief, Hearty returned to the campus to apologize for his manner in handling the incident. Police reports were unavailable to the Echo Friday.

Hearty was joined by two other Waveland Police officers who also, according to Proby, questioned the campers.

"He sent the younger campers inside. They were very upset and confused," Proby said. "He frisked the teenage counselors and questioned them. I told them nobody had any guns."

"He didn't act like he had been here as our friendly police officer. He was rough and almost rude. He wanted to know who threatened to shoot Strickland," Proby said. "He assumed our campers had done something wrong."

Proby said parents and campers are still upset over the manner in which the incident both escalated and was handled. Initially, Proby said, the parents thought they would file suit against the city for the harsh manner in which the children had been treated, but after consulting with counsel chose to let the matter drop.

According to the Proby no charges had been filed in connection with the incident.

After long absence health center reopens

BY ED LEPOMA

After an absence of more than two years, Coastal Family Health Center plans to reopen July 14 in refurbished office space off Hwy. 90 in Bay St. Louis.

Coastal's Executive Director Joe Dawsey said the majority of the 10-person staff has been hired, and movers began this week bringing in furniture, examining tables and other equipment.

"We're shooting for opening at 8 a.m. on Tuesday, July 14," said Dawsey. He said an open house to officially show off the new quarters was planned for July 29, and he would announce a time later.

The clinic will be located in 4,000-square feet of refurbished office space conveniently located at the east end of the Market Town Shopping Center off Dunbar Avenue and Hwy. 90.

Coastal will offer low-cost medical care to the poor and elderly, who had been sent to clinics in Harrison County when operations ceased here in September, 1995. Patients pay according to their income.

The clinic's reopening here was made possible after Hancock County received a grant for $549,441 from the U.S. Public Health Service in order to pay staff and rent clinic space.

Dawsey said Coastal signed a lease in the shopping center for five years, with renewal options.

Coastal will be open from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays, Dawsey said.

St. Vincent Thrift Store

St. Clare Conference, Society of St. Vincent de Paul operates a thrift store, City Hall Annex, Coleman Avenue. It is open Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 10 until 3, and Saturday, 10 a.m. until noon.

All proceeds benefit the needy regardless of race or religion. An information and referral service is available from 1:30 until 3:30 p.m. on Wednesday. For additional information, call 467-0703.

Tennis — Keep it simple

juniors hit the courts for drills designed to improve their strokes. After one youngster missed the ball three or four times, Milliken walked around the net and put her racket through the proper two-handed backhand motion.

"Perfect!" he yelled, throwing his hands up in victory when she hit the next ball.

The mid-morning heat didn't seem to matter to the youngsters, despite running a warm-up lap around the court. Following the drills, they each hit 10 serves and then scrambled to pick up balls to fill up the basket.

Students receive nine hours of instruction per month for a fee of $25. The first month focuses on stroke production which is continued into the second month with the addition of some match play. Month three finds even the beginners learning from match competition.

One benefit of the format is that new participants can be integrated into ongoing classes at any time. And, players who progress quickly can be moved to accommodate their level of play.

In addition to kids ages five to 11, classes are offered for adults at the same price.

League play and tournaments are encouraged for those young players who are interested. Some players have already ventured into the world of tournaments, while others opt to just stick to the classes. It's fine with Milliken either way.

"There's something in tennis for everyone," he said.

(For more information on the Pass Christian tennis program contact Milliken at 452-9030.)

NASA — No garbage route

"The use of Hwy. 607 outside the gates of Stennis Space Center is not restricted at this time," said Magee. "However, the highway maintenance is a United States Government responsibility, not the state of Mississippi. The proposal should address how road wear and tear on Hwy. 607 would be handled and how litter would be dealt with resulting from a landfill operation. Turning lanes off Hwy. 607 would also be appropriate to deal with traffic issues into the Center from the north."

"Furthermore, garbage trucks will not (underlined) be allowed to travel through Stennis Space Center. Therefore, the proposed route to the landfill from the south should be changed to be accessible from Hwy. 603 via Texas Flat and Flat Top roads," said Magee.

The environmental specialists also touched on signage that would be required by NASA, the type of building that would be allowed at a landfill, and basic geological data received from both sites.

Magee said "minimum data" received shows the Mississippi Waste Site "seems to provide appropriate geological conditions that would provide adequate protection to NASA's property and groundwater." However, he said, NASA was awaiting "a copy of the monitoring data from the landfill (site) to assure that nothing will be leaving the landfill site that would potentially impact our facility."

Noting a lack of a sign ordinance in Hancock County, Magee said since Hwy. 607 is the northern entrance to Stennis, the signage "should be appropriate to not detract from the space center image of the area." He said NASA would ask that Hancock County and the Solid Waste Authority insist on approval of signage in any agreement it makes with a developer.

The York proposal did not give building details, and Magee noted, "The restrictive easement on this property will not allow habitable structures." He said NASA might "possibly agree to skid-mounted structures, depending on construction details, but the developer would need NASA approval before building any structure."

The proposal did not address how the company would handle sanitary wastewater from personnel usage and leachate from the landfill itself, Magee noted. "As an adjacent property owner, NASA is requesting this information in order that we can evaluate any impact to our facility of other buffer zone holdings," said Magee.

Hancock County resident Curtis Johnson originally proposed two sites, but now has only one on the table. His 660-acre tract is located off the Kiln-Picayune Road and is accessible by taking Hwy. 603 north to Hwy. 43, to Cuevas Town Road, where he proposed to cut a road to intersect with Hwy. 43 and access the landfill.

Magee said, "NASA has no issues with the proposed site off Hwy. 43." Although there was a lack of geological data provided by Johnson, Magee said the site "would have a higher likelihood of meeting the geophysical siting criteria for a landfill."

As with the York site, Magee said NASA would not allow garbage trucks to come through the Space Center from the south using Hwy. 607.

Magee made the same stipulations regarding wear and tear and the litter problems needing to be addressed on Hwy. 607.

Patrol

Argueta faces numerous charges in the accident. Gazzo said before the accident was reported, a passing officer saw the 18-wheeler on the side of the road and stopped to offer assistance. Argueta told the officer that he had people coming and that he did not need help.

Argueta, according to Gazzo, did not tell the officer that he had been involved in an accident and that the car driven by Bickman was in the woods. The officer left the scene only to be notified moments later of an accident with a car in the woods.

Teacher test slated

The Bay St. Louis School District and the Hancock County School District have scheduled a battery of tests for individuals interested in working in either school districts as substitute or teacher aide.

Assistant teacher testing at Bay-Waveland will be Tuesday and Wednesday, July 7 and 8 beginning at 8 a.m. each day in the district offices, 201 Carroll Ave.

For further information, contact Vivian Rosetti at 467-9241.

Testing at Hancock County for substitutes or teacher aides will be Wednesday, July 15 from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m., at the Hancock County Vo-Tech Center, 7180 Stennis Drive, Kiln.

For additional information, contact David Kopf at 255-0376.

Parenting Classes

Free parenting classes will be offered in Hancock County at RSVP (Old City Hall, Bay St. Louis) for nine weeks, covering self-esteem, communications skills, nutrition, household management, discipline, child development and more.

WEDDING

Heaps-Mashburn

Mrs. and Mrs. Christopher Heaps

Alissa Lindsay Mashburn of Knoxville, Tenn., and Christopher Michael Heaps, also of Knoxville, were united in marriage May 30, 1998 at the Mashburn residence with the Rev. Richard Edwards officiating.

The bride is a daughter of Robert E. II and Jean Mashburn of Lenoir City, Tenn. She is a 1998 graduate of the University of Tennessee with a BS degree.

The groom's parents are Barry and Jean Heaps of Waveland. He received a BA degree from Mississippi State University and is a 1996 graduate of the University of Tennessee with an MA degree. He will receive a PhD in psychology from the University of Tennessee in December. He is a graduate teacher associate at U.T.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Maid of honor was Catherine Long of Athens, Ga., and bridesmaids included Christy Stone and Amy Scott, both of Knoxville, and Christy Blasingame of Lenoir City, Tenn.

Best man was Stephen Heaps of Waveland, brother of the groom.

Groomsmen included Andrew Johnson of San Antonio, Texas, and Robert Reithmiller and Daniel Knight Jr., both of Knoxville.

Ushers were David Heaps of Waveland, brother of the groom; and Rob. Mashburn of Knoxville, brother of the bride.

Organist was Karen Daves, and Vocalist was Leslie Goss.

After a Caribbean cruise, the couple will reside in Knoxville.

Smith-Hines

Mr. and Mrs. James Smith

Terry S. Hines and James W. Smith, both of Diamondhead, were united in marriage June 3, 1998, in an outdoor ceremony at the Hedonism II Resort in Negril, Jamaica.

The bride's parents are Richard E. Hines of Montgomery, Ala., and Mildred A. Weston of Deatsville, Ala. Grandparents are I. E. "Red" Goolsby of Myrtle, Miss., and the late John and Ruby Hines. The groom is the son of the late James W. and Gladys Lorraine Smith.

The ceremony was informal and highlighted by the lush vegetation, exotic flowers and beautiful beaches found on the resort. The couple elected to combine the wedding ceremony and honeymoon.

The Smiths presently reside in Diamondhead, but are in the process of purchasing a home in Pass Christian.

Business Review

Not your regular 'ol cup-o-joe, Coffee & More will pour you the best cup of coffee around.

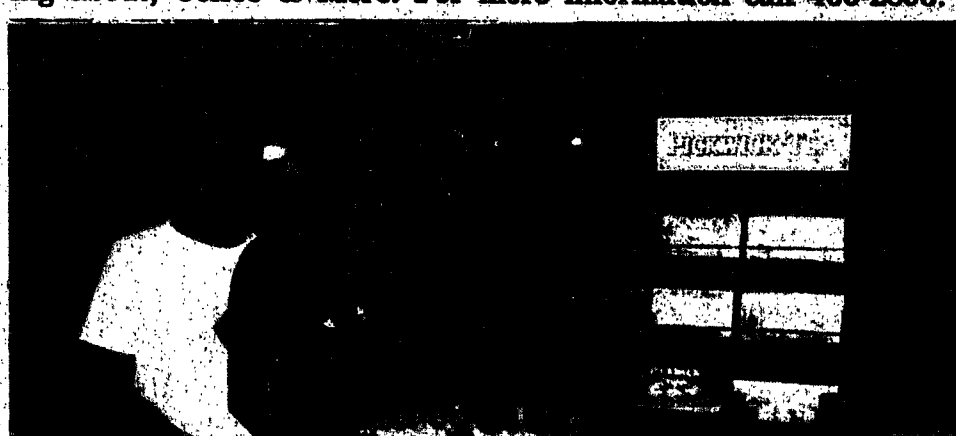

Coffee & More, now open at 824 Highway 90 in Bay St. Louis, is the newest edition to the food court of the gulf coast and ranks right up there with the best. A delightful array of gourmet coffees and teas are fresh brewed daily and their aromas will invite you to enjoy more than one cup. Fresh muffins and croissants as well as other continental breakfast choices are available every morning with the exception of Sunday, beginning at 6:00 AM.

Jeannie Juan, owner of Coffee & More, wanted to offer area diners a healthy option for breakfast and lunch. Coffee & More serves some of the best and most creative salads around. Your choices include the Bay Salad, topped with homemade honey mustard dressing, or try the scrumptious oriental chicken salad topped with Coffee & More's own homemade peanut dressing. The curried chicken salad is also a wonderful treat with the homemade curried dressing. Any salad you choose from the extensive menu could easily become your favorite, they are all so delicious, and healthy!

For the heartier appetite, sandwiches such as the grilled poppy chicken or the croissant club as well as others are available. There is even a vegetarian portion of the menu featuring a veggie mushroom burger and a Mediterranean garden sandwich. With so many different healthy and delicious choices, you could eat at Coffee & More every day with absolutely no guilt.

Jeannie is so happy to have gourmet cook, Sarah Salyma on staff. Her wonderful recipes and pastry experience are a true asset to this charming little eatery. Her freshly made cakes and pies are "to die for". Ask your server for the days selection.

Coffee & More is open Monday through Saturday from 6 AM until 3 PM and take outs are available. Come and try what everyone is raving about, Coffee & More. For more information call 466-2895.

SSC debuts

Students Tommy Goode of Diamondhead and Brad Aubert of Waveland watch Brother Ronald Talbot, SC, principal of St. Stanislaus, as he goes online from www.ststan.com for St. Stanislaus' debut on the World Wide Web.

www.ststan.com makes debut on web

St. Stanislaus College Prep is now online with its re-designed web page on the World Wide Web at <http://www.ststan.com>.

The enhanced internet site contains a multitude of information regarding St. Stanislaus, Camp Stanislaus and the Brothers of the Sacred Heart.

Visitors can take a virtual tour of St. Stanislaus and see pictures of various parts of the school's campus from anywhere in the world.

Subject links featured include admissions information, available courses, alumni information, Rock-A-Chaw facts, calendar, activities, campus store, tour of campus containing 20-plus pictures of the beach-front campus, summer camp information and special announcements.

The St. Stanislaus site also contains a general information link leading users to the history of SSC, financial information, school overview, directions to SSC and the phone directory.

St. Stanislaus was able to fund the technological upgrade of a T-1 line and Macintosh G3 server through parent and alumni support.

Mark Rittiner, a 1982 graduate of St. Stanislaus from Jackson, donated a Cisco Router for the school's use. The school uses two T-1 lines on campus for phone/fax communication and for working with its multimedia Macintosh computers throughout campus.

The St. Stanislaus web site was originally developed by computer science students during the 1996-97 academic year.

Joel Lansden and John Genin were instrumental in developing the site. The site has been in service since its inception through a local provider and is featured on such sites as the Catholic Boarding School Association, the Association of Boarding School and the Peterson Educational Directory.

Through the innovative applications of technology course offered at St. Stanislaus, students have also been helpful developing the web site for St. Rose de Lima Church, St. Augustine Seminary and Our Lady of the Gulf Parish.

"Our new internet capabilities give us a chance to show the world all that St. Stanislaus has to offer," said John Genin, web master for St. Stanislaus.

"We're also able to keep parents updated with what is happening here on campus."

Genin is a 1997 graduate of St. Stanislaus and a current sophomore at Mississippi State University.

The St. Stanislaus web page can be accessed from the internet at www.ststan.com. The site is constantly being updated and upgraded for easier use and quicker download time.

Finding scholarship money gets easier

Currently there are nearly 400,000 scholarship and grant sources to help pay for college costs, including tuition, room and board, text books, lab fees and other expenses.

More than 80 percent of these scholarships do not depend on financial need or high grades, but are awarded based on factors such as the student's interests, activities, field of study, age, ethnic background or parent's work or military service.

Ideally, students should begin the process of identifying scholarship sources starting in the spring semester of their junior year in high school. However, as long as there are college bills to pay, even for later years in college or graduate school, it is never too late to find out what money is available to help.

Now through the resources of the National Academic Funding Advisory (NAFA), an updated publication for 1998-99 is available which provides important information for all students seeking to receive financial assistance, how to use the new tax changes to save money on educational expenses and where to secure direct scholarship money.

For information on how to receive academic funding and scholarships for college, graduate school or trade school, send $3 to cover shipping and handling to the National Academic Funding Advisory (NAFA), 188 Summer Street, Scholarship Department S3, Portsmouth, NH 03801.

Spear named scholar

Bay High School valedictorian Rachel Spear of Waveland, daughter of Mrs. Connie Hayward Spear, has been awarded the Emily de Montluzin Foreign Language Scholarship for 1998. She will enter Millsaps College in August, where she will continue her studies in French and work toward achieving a minor in that subject.

Ranking first in a class of 157 and with a weighted grade point average of 4.6, Spear has also had an outstanding high school record of involvement in numerous school and community activities. President of the French Club, recipient of the International Foreign Language Award, the Bausch and Lomb Science Award, and a National Merit Award among many other accolades, she has served on the yearbook staff and the debate team, has been a volunteer tutor for the past four years, has worked as a volunteer for Hope Haven and the Special Olympics, and is a published poet.

She has excelled in her four years of French at Bay High and says that she wants "to continue studying the language until I satisfy my craving of knowledge" about it and about French culture. "Learning more in French," she says, "is one of my dreams."

Rachel Spear becomes the fourteenth recipient of the Emily de Montluzin Foreign Language Scholarship, now valued at $1500 and awarded annually to a senior from any of the Hancock County high schools who is judged by the de Montluzin Scholarship's board of directors as the outstanding language student of the year. Donations and memorial gifts to the fund from which the awards are made are tax exempt and continue to grow, thus enabling the directors to increase from time to time their help in the face of constantly escalating college costs.

Local teacher attends Free Enterprise Institute

Joan Thomas of Bay St. Louis, who teaches at Our Lady Academy, will participate in the 18th annual Free Enterprise Institute for Teachers sponsored by the Mississippi Economic Council and the Armstrong Foundation, held at the University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Park.

Each year 50 teachers study a contemporary topic that will help them better understand and instruct students in principles of America's free enterprise system. This year's focus will be on the Mississippi marketplace and skills and values that will be needed in the workforce of the future.

Dr. Aubrey Lucas, president emeritus of USM, will serve as dean. Dr. Malcolm Portera, Mississippi State University president, will conduct the opening session. A faculty of distinguished university and college professors will teach the course.

St. Stanislaus hosts summer enrichment class

St. Stanislaus senior math instructor Mike Gemelli of Bay St. Louis takes a few weeks of every summer explaining quadrants, coordinate plotting schemes and factoring theories to his summer pre-algebra class at SSC.

Gemelli, in his 10th year of conducting the summer enrichment class at St. Stanislaus, offers the math course to help develop the skills necessary to be successful in the upcoming high school algebra and geometry classes.

Students learn by doing and enjoy the relaxed summer atmosphere of the class.

"One point perspectives are my favorite thing about the class because we get to draw," said student Tim Kulikowski, former St. Clare student and entering St. Stanislaus as seventh grader from Waveland.

Engineering and science program in its first year at Stennis

The 1998 Secretary of the Navy Engineering & Science Residential Program hosted by the Commander, Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command (CNMOC) and the Center of Higher Learning/University of Southern Mississippi kicked off its initial program recently at the Diamondhead Community Center.

Capt. Don Roman, Naval Meteorology and Oceanography

Command chief of staff greeted 10 high school students from Mississippi and Louisiana selected to participate.

The SECNAV Engineering and Science Residential Program is in its first year at Stennis Space Center and is a project designed to expose outstanding students, possessing a high aptitude for math and science, to the inner working of a Navy scientific environment and expand the pool of qualified engineers and scientists for Naval research.

The vision of this unique six-week residential program is to incorporate the resources, skills and background of Naval scientists with USM faculty to provide an exciting and educationally enhanced experience.

The purpose of the project is to establish a pool of students preparing for careers in engineering and science. Students have the opportunity to be exposed to engineering and scientific practices, as well as personnel not normally available in the school site environment.

Some of the benefits to the students include interactive student/mentor projects with hands-on research experiences, achievement award upon completion, application of classroom theory to "real world" work experience, working with the latest technologies, tours and field trips related to marine science, and an earned college credit.

ESRP provides an opportunity for students to work with the latest technologies and explore career options while developing marketable skills.

Advance funding on DD 21 program announced

The U.S. Navy has awarded advance funding of $1.5 million to the shipbuilding alliance of Ingalls and Bath Iron Works to prepare a competition plan to establish two competitive teams to develop two separate DD 21 system concept designs, announced Congressman Gene Taylor.

Ingalls and Bath Iron Works Corp. have formed an alliance to work together on the project. Ingalls and Bath will be the leaders of the established teams and will partner with system integrators Lockheed Martin or Raytheon Corp.

Each team will be granted approximately $105 million over three years to complete a system concept design, an initial system design and a Smart Product Model or virtual prototype of the team's system.

On July 14, the shipbuilding alliance will submit its competition plan to the Navy. The Navy will then evaluate and approve the proposals.

This project represents the Navy's future. It will ensure that Ingalls' outstanding work for the Navy is extended into the next century," said Taylor.

Earlier this year Taylor, ranking member of the House National Security Committee, worked to include $59 million in funding for the DD 21 Program in the Defense Authorization Bill. The DD 21 Program is a 21st Century land attack destroyer.

NASA adds schools to program

NASA's Commercial Remote Sensing Program at the John C. Stennis Space Center in south Mississippi has selected five new universities to add to its Affiliated Research Center (ARC) Program.

The ARC Program assists U.S. industry in evaluating the commercial application of spatial technologies such as remote sensing, Geographic Information Systems and the Global Positioning System.

Remote sensing is the ability to collect information about the Earth's surface with sensors mounted on aircraft or satellites. A Geographic Information System is a collection of computer hardware and software designed to efficiently capture, store, edit, analyze and display all forms of geographic information.

The Global Positioning System is a satellite-based device that records coordinates of an area and other field data. Ground locations are calculated by signals from satellites orbiting the Earth to locate a specific area.

The new additions to NASA's Affiliated Research Center Program are: the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque; the University of Nebraska in Lincoln; Brown University in Providence, R.I.; State University of New York/College of Environmental Science and Forestry in Syracuse; and Oregon State University in Corvallis.

The five new ARC's join San Diego State University, the University of South Carolina, the University of Wisconsin-Madison, and Utah State University in providing centers of excellence for remote sensing research and development.

The ARC Program allows the universities to introduce remote sensing technologies and techniques to potential commercial users short-term demonstration projects, allowing the company to assess the costs and benefits associated with introducing the technologies into their business practices. The ARC universities illustrate the value of government assistance in technology investigation and or adoption.

The Affiliated Research Center Program is sponsored by NASA's Office of Earth Sciences in Washington, D.C., and is managed by the Commercial Remote Sensing Program Office at Stennis Space Center. The five ARC's selected for negotiations are expected to receive multi-year funding awards.

The "WORD" for the Week

Dennis J. Prutow, Box 303, Sterling, KS 67579

Spring leads to summer and weather fit for travel and vacation fun. Although summer is joyful for some, it brings on the "blues" for others. Part of it is that we are led to have such high expectations. After all, this is a time of the year for relaxation and joy in special places.

But these vacations don't always materialize. We get pumped up with the thoughts of loved ones, friends, and special get-togethers. When everything does not go just the way we think it should, the air goes out of our balloons. Or perhaps we don't have a close family to love and lean upon. Or maybe there are no invitations to special parties and celebrations. Your balloon isn't just deflated. You don't even have a balloon!

Look at what Jesus says, "In the world you have tribulation, but take courage; I have overcome the world" (John 16:33). And 1 John

Holy Spirit Victory

5:4 says, "For whatever is born of God overcomes the world; and this is the victory that has overcome the world—our faith." So you are "down" about the prospects for the summer. Turn to the real answer to those "blues." Seek Jesus Christ. Authentic Christianity involves "righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Spirit" (Romans 14:17). And "the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace..." (Galatians 5:22). Think about it!

Main Street Methodist sets Bible school classes

'Come to the Storytelling Tree' is the theme of this year's Vacation Bible School at Main Street United Methodist Church, 162 Main Street, Bay St. Louis.

Classes for preschool (4 years old) through sixth grade will be held between 9 a.m. and noon July 6-10.

The director of the school, Pauline Conaway, said participants will hear some of the stories Jesus told and will learn what Jesus wants us to listen, follow, forgive, grow and love.

Blue, yellow, purple, green and red are the special colors designated for each day of VBS. The children will learn how one color for each session emphasizes something about each of Jesus' parables that will be told during VBS.

All offerings and donations collected during the week will benefit Hope Haven, the center for abused and neglected children in Hancock County.

This year everyone is asked to donate cleaning supplies that are always in short supply at the shelter.

Individuals wishing to pre-register by phone or requiring transportation to and from Vacation Bible School, should contact Louann at the church office at 467-3428 for details.

Parenting skills seminars in July

Designed specially for parents, the following seminars are being sponsored by Slidell Memorial Hospital and Medical Center during July:

Bumps, Boo-Boos and Band-Aids: First Aid Tips for Parents:

July 14, 9:30-11 a.m., free in the SMH Krieger Building, Conference Room A.

Parents of children birth to five years, are invited to learn practical information about how to handle all those little "emergencies" from bug bites and stings to sunburns, scrapes, cuts, burns and bruises.

SMH Family Educator Taffy Morrison will give tips on how to determine if an emergency visit is necessary. Plus, you'll learn how to stock your family's first aid cabinet with all the right supplies.

Call (504) 646-0044 to register.

Baby Talks: Soothing Your Infant Through Massage:

July 28, 7-8:30 p.m., free in the SMH Krieger Building, Conference Rooms B & C.

Massage improves the emotional communication between parents and their infant(s), and helps parents feel competent in their baby's daily care.

Tangible results can be seen through an increased sense of trust, security and acceptance; more relaxed and better functioning respiratory, circulatory and gastrointestinal systems; relief from gas and colic; and improved sleeping patterns.

Join SMH Family Educator Taffy Morrison to learn 32 special massage strokes. This popular program is designed for parents of infants, birth to six months. Registration is required due to limited space.

Call (504) 646-0044 to register.

COMMUNITY SERVICES

Al-Anon/BSL

Al-Anon, Bay St. Louis chapter, meets Monday and Friday at 8 p.m. at 300 Third Street, Bay St. Louis.

Al-Anon is designed for families and friends who are affected by someone else's drinking. For information, call 466-5780.

American Cancer Society

Assistance to victims of cancer is available through Hancock and Harrison county chapters of the American Cancer Society.

Necessary items for patients, such as dressings, ostomy and sick-room supplies are available to those in need. Equipment which may be loaned to patients includes wheelchairs and hospital beds.

Assistance is available for transportation to qualifying hospitals. Several rehabilitation programs are offered, including "Reach To Recovery", in which volunteers who have had mastectomies visit new breast cancer patients (with approval of physician) to assist in emotional, physical and psychological rehabilitation.

Battered Women

Free counseling is offered for Hancock County women suffering from emotional or physical abuse. Gwen Beck, outreach coordinator with Gulf Coast Women's Center, is available each Wednesday, 10 a.m.-noon at the Hancock County Youth Court building on Court Street.

All cases are confidential. Call 435-1968 collect for appointment. The Gulf Coast Women's Center, a United Way agency, also offers an advocacy program for victims of sexual assault and domestic violence. A 24-hour crisis line is available by calling 1-800-800-1396.

Blood Pressure

Fatired Senior Volunteer Program sponsors free blood pressure testing on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month from 9-11 a.m. at the American Legion Post 77, on Coleman Avenue in Waveland.

Hancock Medical Center Women's Auxiliary (Pink Ladies) conducts free blood pressure testing at the hospital, 10-11:30 a.m. Tuesdays.

Bay-Waveland Overeaters HOW Group

Bay-Waveland Overeaters HOW group meets every Tuesday, 7-8 p.m. at Hancock Medical Center's meeting room.

The HOW group is a discipline plan of eating using the 12 steps and 12 traditions for support.

There are no dues or fees. The group is self supporting through their own contributions.

For information, contact Ann at 467-6254.

GED classes

GED classes are being offered at Hancock High School Monday and Tuesday, 8:30-11 a.m. and Monday and Wednesday, 6-9 p.m. For information, call Barbara White at 467-2251.

Grieving Support Group

A Wholesome Grieving Support Group will meet every second Wednesday, of the month 3-5 p.m. and 6-8 p.m. at the Hancock Senior Care Office in Bay West Professional Center, 1011 Hwy 90, across from the Waffle House. The meetings are free of charge.

For information, call Edmond Fahey Funeral Home at 467-9031 or Hancock Senior Care at 467-4875.

When we are conscientious in our work and perform to the best of our ability, we are not only helping ourselves, we are also helping our country. Likewise, whenever we are being critical of American workmanship, we are being critical of ourselves. Like former President Kennedy once said, "Ask not what your country can do for you, but what you can do for your country." It is essential that everyone who is able, should take the responsibility to improve their skills and do good work. When mistakes occur, we should correct them, and each day we should have a good feeling that we are not only contributing to our jobs, but to our country as well. We should be willing to sign our name to every piece of work we do, and to let our friends and co-workers know that we value a job well-done. God has richly blessed us in this country and it is everyone's responsibility to take care of it. Praying for our country, trusting in God, and performing well in our work are all necessary for us to remain a great nation.

Lord, our God, may your blessings be with us. Give us success in all we do!

THANKSGIVING NOVENA TO ST. JUDE. O Holy St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles; near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depth of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. St. Jude pray for us all who invoke your aid. Amen. Say three Our Fathers, three Hail Marys and Glorias. This novena has never been known to fail. PCF, M.J.H.

Rabies threat moves closer to Mississippi

By Linda Breazeale
MSU Ag Communications
Mississippi's rabies-free days are numbered.
Mississippi is the only state in the continental United States without a confirmed case of land-animal rabies in recent years. Unfortunately, the threat is not 100 miles away from Mississippi's border, it's probably less than 10.
Bruce Brackin, epidemiologist with the state Board of Health in Jackson, said although it has been more than 30 years since Mississippi had a confirmed case of land-animal rabies, verified cases are so close that rabies is most likely within the state's borders already.

The most significant threat to land animals (which excludes bats) comes from Mobile County in South Alabama. Brackin said a recent case in Theodore, Ala., on the west side of Mobile, should send a warning to Mississippi pet owners.
"The risk is never zero for any animal in any part of Mississippi," Brackin said. "All parts of the state have rabid bats that could infect unvaccinated animals."
Dogs and cats could get rabies from chewing on weak or dead rabid bats. Rabies vaccines will protect pets. Animals in rural areas are at a greater risk from raccoons, but bats are frequently found in cities as well as on farms.
"Humans are most often exposed to rabies from handling bats. Parents really need to teach children not to touch or get close to wild animals, even if they look harmless," Brackin said.
State laws prohibit people from owning wild animals such as raccoons. Rabies vaccinations are not only important for the health of animals and their owners, they are required by law for all dogs and cats. Mississippi law states "it shall be unlawful for any person within the state of Mississippi to own or have in (their) possession within the state of Mississippi any dog or cat 3 months of age or over which has not been vaccinated against rabies."

Public Notice
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT A PUBLIC HEARING WILL BE HELD BEFORE THE PLANNING AND ZONING COMMISSION OF THE CITY OF WARELAND ON THE 20th DAY OF JULY, 1998, AT THE CITY OF WARELAND BOARD ROOM, CITY HALL, ANNEX, 307 COLEMAN AVENUE, WARELAND, MISSISSIPPI, AT 6:30 P.M. TO CONSIDER THE FOLLOWING:
Jean McCall requests plat approval to subdivide a parcel of land and create four 75x112' lots. A variance of three thousand six hundred square feet from the minimum lot size is required for each lot.

Public Notice

The Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi (the "County") took up for consideration the matter of a loan with the Mississippi Development Bank. After a discussion of the subject, Supervisor Rodrick Fulmer offered and moved the adoption of the following resolution:

A RESOLUTION OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI, DECLARING THE INTENTION OF THE COUNTY TO AUTHORIZE THE BORROWING OF AN AMOUNT NOT TO EXCEED ONE MILLION THREE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS ($1,300,000) BY ENTERING INTO A LOAN WITH THE MISSISSIPPI DEVELOPMENT BANK FOR THE PURPOSE OF ACQUIRING AND CONSTRUCTING A LIBRARY TO BE SITUATED IN THE KILN AREA OF HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI.

WHEREAS, Hancock County, Mississippi (the "County") is authorized under the provisions of Miss. Code Ann. § 31-25-28 to borrow in such amounts as it may find necessary and proper in order to provide funds for the acquisition and construction of a library in the Kiln area of Hancock County Mississippi (the "Project"); and

WHEREAS, the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi (the "Governing Body") find and determine that it is necessary to acquire and construct a library in the Kiln area of Hancock County, Mississippi; and

WHEREAS, the Governing Body has caused an estimate to be made of the cost of such acquisition and construction from which estimates the Governing Body finds that the contemplated costs thereof will not exceed One Million Three Hundred Thousand Dollars ($1,300,000);

WHEREAS, it is necessary for the education and well-being of the citizens of the County to borrow money and to use the same for the aforesaid acquisition and construction;

WHEREAS it is necessary, proper, and economically feasible that the Hancock County borrow money by entering into a loan with the Mississippi Development Bank pursuant to Miss. Code Ann. § 31-25-28 and § 31-25-29 for the purposes herein stated and under the power of any statutory or charter restriction, limitation, or provision, and the taking power of the County will not be prejudiced by the payment of said loan, together with the interest thereon, shall be payable solely from legally available revenues of the County;

SECTION 1: That the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, do hereby declare its intention to authorize a loan with the Mississippi Development Bank and borrow money, in a total amount not to exceed One Million Three Hundred Thousand Dollars ($1,300,000) to raise money to pay the costs of the acquisition and construction of a library to be located in the Kiln area of Hancock County, Mississippi.

SECTION 2: The Principal and interest on the said loan shall be paid by the County in accordance with the terms of the loan agreement and the terms of the charter restriction, limitation, or provision, and the taking power of the County will not be prejudiced by the payment of said loan, together with the interest thereon, shall be payable solely from legally available revenues of the County.

SECTION 3: A PROTEST IN WRITING SIGNED BY NOT LESS THAN FIFTEEN PERCENT (15%) OF 1500, whether in fee, of the qualified electors of the County, shall be filed with the Clerk of the County on or before 10:00 o'clock A.M. on the 7th day after the date of the last publication of this resolution, the question of authorizing the loan shall be submitted to an election to be held on the 7th day after the date of the last publication of this resolution, the question of authorizing the loan shall be submitted to an election to be held on the 7th day after the date of the last publication of this resolution, the question of authorizing the loan shall be submitted to an election to be held on the 7th day after the date of the last publication of this resolution.

SECTION 4: This resolution shall be published once a week for at least three consecutive weeks in the Sea Coast Echo, a newspaper having general circulation in the County and qualified under the provisions of the laws of the State of Mississippi, and the first publication of such resolution shall be made not less than twenty (20) days before the date of the election for the purpose of the authorization of the loan and the last publication of this resolution shall be not more than seven (7) days prior to the date of the election for the purpose of the filing of any objection.

SECTION 5: The Chancery Clerk is hereby directed to procure from the publisher of the aforesaid newspaper the customary proof of publication of this resolution and have the same before the Board of Supervisors on or before the 7th day after the date of the last publication of this resolution.

Supervisor Lyndie J. Ladner, Sr. voted: Aye
Supervisor Susan S. Smith, voted: Aye

TRAVEL & ENTERTAINMENT

12B-THE SEA COAST ECHO—SUNDAY, JULY 5, 1998

Rod Stewart scheduled in Biloxi

If "Every Picture Tells a Story," as one of the new songs on Rod Stewart's newest album says, then picture this — Rod Stewart — no opening act — no intermission — just classic Rod entertaining thousands of fans with songs like "Maggie Mae," "Hot Legs" and so on.

Certainly this picture will add up to a masterpiece for concertgoers hungry to see the famous sandy-haired strutting rocker onstage at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum.

In concert, which is part of Stewart's tour in support of his new, critically acclaimed album "When We Were The New Boys," is slated for September 1 at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum in Biloxi.

Tickets go on sale July 18 at 10 a.m. at the Coliseum Box Office and all usual TicketMaster outlets. Mississippi Gulf Coast residents may charge their tickets by phone at 228-385-2600.

In Mobile, the charge by phone number is 334-434-0033 and in the New Orleans area, 504-522-5555.

Tickets may also be purchased on line through TicketMaster, or TicketMaster may be accessed through the coliseum's web site at <http://www.mscoastcoliseum.com>.

Ticket prices are being finalized and will be announced at a later date.

Swamp Fest '98

The Friends of the Jackson Zoo and Budweiser have announced a new fund raising festival, Rhythm & Zoo Swamp Fest '98.

The event will be Sunday, July 12, 9 a.m.-9 p.m. in the concert field at the Jackson Zoo.

Kids' area will be open 9 a.m.-3 p.m.

Food will be available, including Cajun and Southern fare. Bring blankets and chairs.

Ticket prices are $12 for adults and $5 for children 3-12. Ticket prices include zoo admission. No advance tickets will be available.

For information, call 352-2585.

Car collection

Legendary movie great James Cagney is shown standing beside his 1930 Model J Duesenberg that is now on display at the Biloxi branch of the Imperial Palace Antique & Classic Auto Collection, located on the second floor of the parking garage of the Imperial Palace Biloxi. Visitors can tour the Biloxi branch of the Antique and Classic Auto Collection seven days a week, 9 a.m.-11 p.m., daily. Admission is $6.95 for adults, $3 for senior citizens and children 12 and under, and children under 3 are free. Photography is invited.

His friends, dropouts, who tell him that school doesn't make a difference. They know how to make money without a degree.

WHOSE SIDE ARE YOU ON?

His father, working two jobs, who tells him not to make the same mistake he once made.

His friends say get a life. His father says don't waste it. Who should he listen to? Whose side are you on? Each and every day 2,217 teenagers drop out of school. Which is why people all across America are taking action. To help children. To assist parents. And to change the odds. More than 350 organizations are now united together to be stronger than the problems facing our children. We're the Coalition for America's Children. And we have thousands of ways, big and small, you too can make a difference. Call 1-888-544-KIDS. Or reach us online at www.kidscampaigns.org. We're fighting for the children. Whose side are you on?
